...to find your treasure

LOUISIANA Antique TRAIL.com

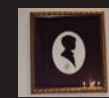

Start your "hunt" in Northern Louisiana which has been known for years by duck and deer hunters as a Sportsman's Paradise. Now, a national television show celebrates the area. Join the fun and visit West Monroe's Antique Alley which is an antiques' paradise. There are ten stores in the area.

Then head further west; there are antique shops from Ruston to Shreveport. It is well worth the trip.

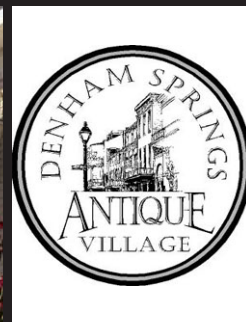

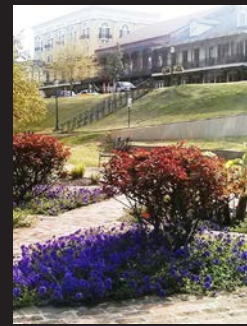

For collectors of American antiques and decorative arts, the corridor of the "Great River Road" along the Mississippi River has not only one of the greatest collections of historic architecture in the country, but also has incredible collections of American 18th and 19th century furniture. One will also delight in the selection of furnishings found in antique stores in Baton Rouge, Louisiana's capitol city, and in nearby St Francisville.

Following LouisianaAntiqueTrail.com, one will discover upscale antique galleries as well as a mélange of privately owned shops and multivendor malls with a mixture of antiques and vintage collectibles. However, the most delightful treasures one will find along the trail are the charming and knowledgeable people.

Visit LouisianaAntiqueTrail.com to see additional antique shops that joined since the brochure was printed, detailed maps, each shop's website, hours, photos, phone, etc.

For many, the trail will lead to Louisiana's oldest permanent settlement, Natchitoches, in Central Louisiana.

Cajun Country, the southwest region, was settled by Acadians expelled from Nova Scotia and French Canada in the late 1700s. Find Cajun treasures in seven antique stores in Lafayette, and in two stores in each of these towns: Lake Charles, Breaux Bridge, and Opelousas. Try local gumbo and crawfish jambalaya for dinner while listening to zydeco music. Watch out for alligators!

Follow the trail east to find ten antique stores in Ponchatoula. North of Lake Pontchartrain, discover the inviting village of Covington with five antique stores within walking distance, Camellia House B&B, and fine dining in locally owned restaurants. Further south is Slidell's four antique shops.

The last stop is New Orleans, known internationally for its cuisine, jazz, and its many antique stores filled with French influenced pieces. Spend the night in the newly renovated, but antique furnished, historic Audubon Cottages in the French Quarter near the famed Royal Street antique stores.
